Gary,

A couple of things I thought I would send your way:

The dredging attachment was taken at Market Street Park, just west of the Site.

The other two attachments are from today's Houston Chronicle City & State section.

A couple of community members are planning to test their wells in the near future. A recent MSD application was submitted, again, by Southwest Shipyards which has heightened concerns for groundwater in the surrounding communities. Our coalition has grown in the community of Lynchburg, just southeast of the Site and most of the homes are on private wells. One homeowner there plans to test their well. Hoping for their sake, they don't find anything! I will keep you posted.

Also, I have been working with Leticia, the epidemiologist taking over the cancer cluster investigation for DSHS. From my brief experiences with her, I feel confident in her work- which is a relief!

On another note, are you working on the site in Southeast Houston at the former CES facility? I was told yesterday that the EPA is going to list the site as a Superfund Site? I am wondering if you could tell me a little bit about this site.

Thank you,
Jackie Young
